

Bring your provider network to market faster, anywhere.

Complete, compliant, and credentialed

andros scales up your team's capacity to build compliant provider networks in new markets—while reducing your administrative costs—using our optimized process and powerful a* technology.

Data

Built on the a* platform, the healthcare industry's largest provider data resource

Intelligence

Fastest-path-to-adequacy approach targets critical providers first

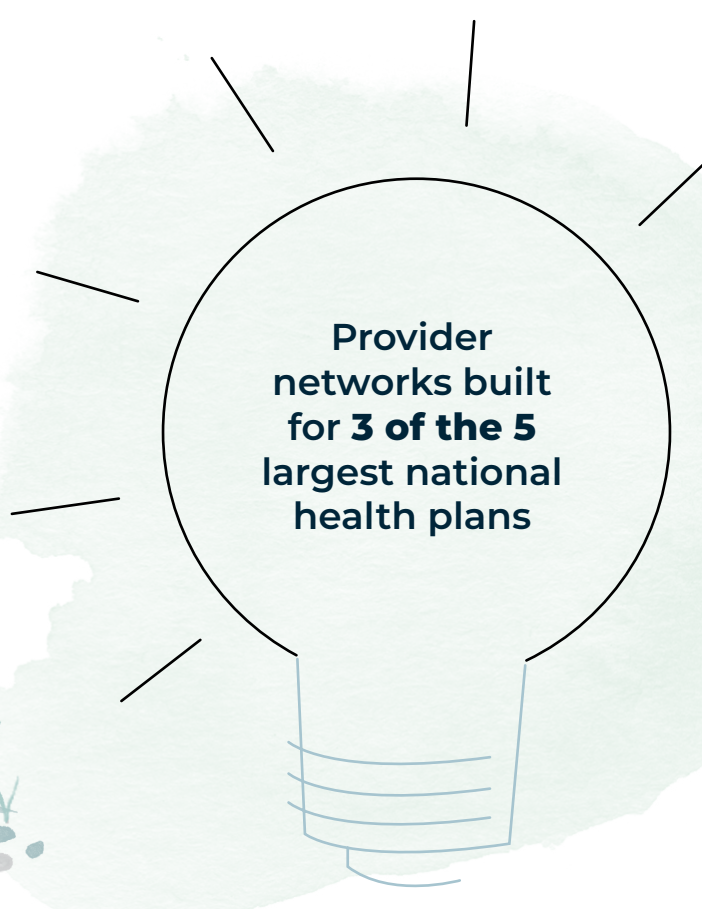

Scalability

andros builds healthcare networks across specialties and across the nation

Start smarter

Save time and money with a data-driven market viability analysis powered by the a* platform. By understanding the results of our market assessment, you can rest assured that your network development project will be viable in the marketplace.

Provider networks built for 3 of the 5 largest national health plans

Follow the path to success

Our revolutionary, omni-channel approach to recruiting and contracting follows the fastest path to adequacy, targeting mission-critical providers first and reducing the potential for wasted effort.

Recruiting

Our a* database identifies and prioritizes the most desirable providers, down to specialty and facility type. With network modeling, providers can be reprioritized to maximize economies of scale and speed-to-market.

Contracting

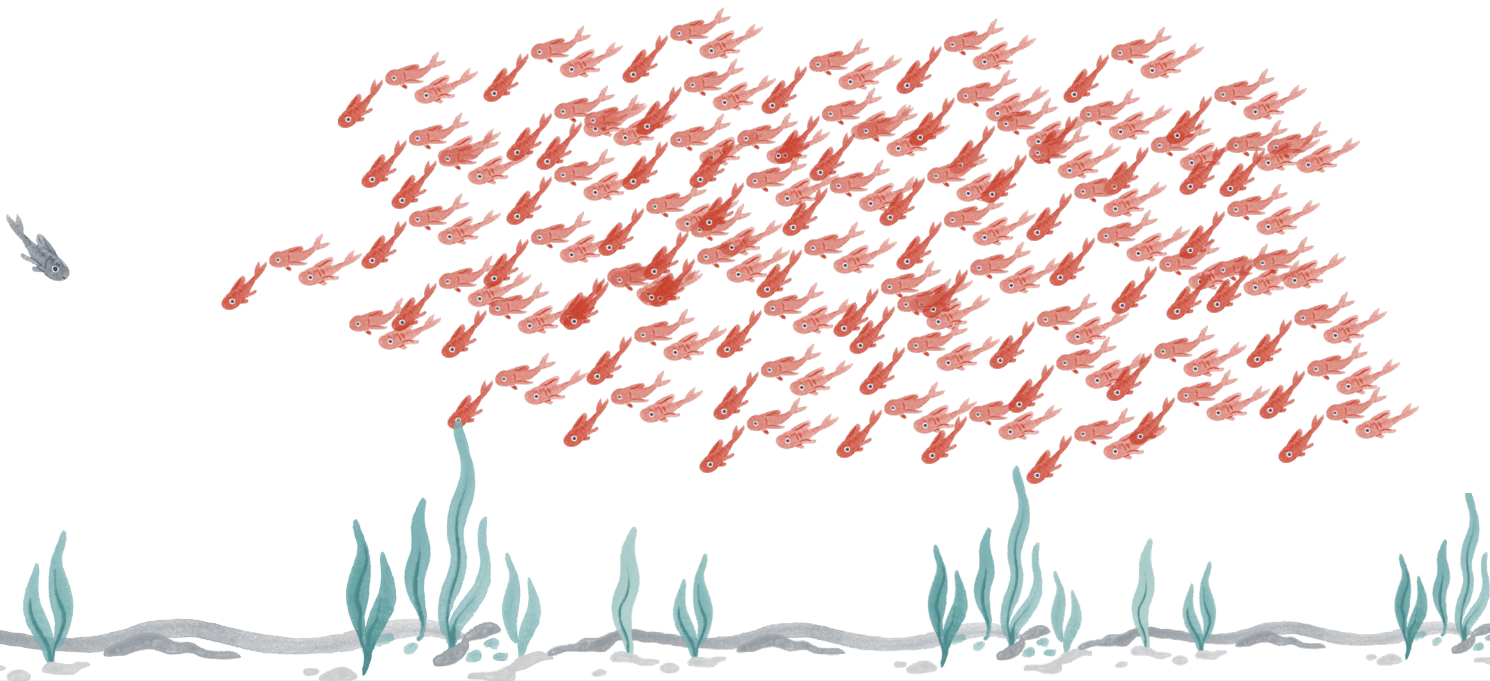

andros manages outreach and tracks real-time provider response rates. You'll have easy access to project and provider level status dashboards and reports, so you can make informed go/no-go decisions for each market.

Data management

As provider contracts are signed, we'll build a robust, verifiable database of provider information. This verified data will ensure that your network directory is error-free, complete, compliant, and ready for filing.

Accelerate time to market

Building or expanding provider networks can be a daunting task for Network Development teams already working at capacity. With a proven track record of scaling from 1 to 200k providers quickly with minimal disruption, andros helps our clients build provider networks that operate more efficiently, serve their members more effectively, and are more competitive in the marketplace.
